26 2 INDEPENDENT CLAIM 1

27

28 2.1 The present application does not meet the requirements
29 of Article 33(1) PCT because the subject matter of claim 1
30 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2)PCT.

31 Document D1 discloses (the references in parentheses relate 32 to this document) a household appliance for integrating into 33 a sector of a worktop (2) comprising an operating strip (64-

68) containing at least one operating element (67) and having a supporting surface on the lower side thereof for supporting the household appliance on the worktop (2), wherein the operating strip is substantially produced by forming.

2.2 The present application does not meet the requirements of Article 33(1) PCT because the subject matter of claim 1 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2)PCT. Documents D2-D8 also completely disclose the subject matter of claim 1.

3 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2-5, 8, 16

Claims 2-5, 8, 16 contain no features which in combination with the features of any claim to which they relate satisfy the requirements of the PCT in relation to novelty or inventive step.

4 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 6, 7, 9-15

The combination of features contained in the dependent claims is neither known from the present prior art nor is it made obvious by it.

5 The industrial applicability of the subject matter of the present application is clear.

Re Point VII.

The subject matter of claim 1 is a product which is to be characterised by a method for manufacture. In this case, it should be noted that the product as such must (regardless of the basic manufacturing process) satisfy the requirements of patentability (among others novelty and inventive step) to be considered as allowable.
